SECRETARIES OF CONFERENCES AND MISSIONS

The following list of Secretaries, with their post office addresses, is published herewith as an aid to the Bishops and Conference Secretaries in making the transfers of preachers, especially during the time of the Conference sessions. Often they are hindered, if it should be the Fall Conference that is being held, in making the transfer to a Spring Conference, by not knowing to whom to send the certificate of transfer. It is hoped this may be of advantage both to the Bishop and the Secretary.

This list is correct according to the latest information. Conferences are designated (F) and (S) for Fall and Spring respectively.—EDITOR.

ALASKA MISSION

BISHOP SHEPARD in charge

An attempt was made to hold this Mission in Seward, Alaska, July 5, 1921. The great distances and the difficulty of travel were such that only the Resident Bishop, the Superintendent of the Mission, and the Resident Pastor, could be present. The statistics had, however, been forwarded, the condition of all the Mission was carefully reviewed, and the appointments made. Upon the journey of the Bishop and Superintendent all but two of our stations were carefully inspected. There are some very interes ting developments in our Alaska work, and some new enterprises have been inaugurated.

The near completion of the Government railroad and the interest shown by the new Government in all Alaskan matters has largely increased the attention of the country to this great territory.

The following are the appointments for the present year:

Graduated from the latter in 1889, and later awarded the degrees of D.D. and LL.D. from this college and LL.D. by Upper Iowa University. Joined the Upper Iowa Conference and later was transferred to the Northwest Iowa Conference, of which he was a member when elected to the Episcopacy in 1908. Principal of Epworth Seminary from 1888 to 1897, and President of Morningside College from 1897 to 1908. He was assigned to residence in Foochow, China, from 1908 to 1920, when the Committee on Episcopacy fixed his residence at Peking.

Bishop Lewis' name is where Bashford's was last year. China's leaders crossing the immortal frontier. Bashford, the more delicate, fifteen years in China, went at seventy in 1919; Lewis, the more rugged, thirteen years in China, goes at sixty-four, in 1921. An extraordinary brace of bishops—both farm-born, compacted by early toil, trained to administration by the exacting tasks of college presidency. Almost inevitably Bashford chose Lewis as colleague for China. Fit yokefellows for that vast field. Bishops in the true succession, as manifestly apostolic as Christ's first Twelve.

Individual prominence is increasingly improbable among nearly one hundred bishops elected in one hundred and thirty-six years. But these two marked individuals seem to have attained it by reason of what they were and did and by standing conspicuously together in our view against great China's vast expectant sky palpitant with promise of apocalypses and sunrises, with the Cross visibly displacing the dragon above her multitudinous millions.

Christ's church had no more obedient servant than Wilson Seeley Lewis. He came and went, fetched and carried as ordered, did what he was told to do without counting the cost to himself; if it cost his life well and good; that was in the bargain from the first. His greatness was of the servant-soldier type, his leadership not by lordship but by out-praying and out-working his colaborers. He seemed a cross between a Percheron's power for pulling big loads and an Arabian's eagerness for speed. Dead earnest was his habit, no mirth or trifling. He had the look of a man absorbed. In Baltimore in 1908, the first time his face ever came close, the look of his eyes into mine told me what manner of man he was. Straightway I believed in him.

The church tries to describe this sturdy Christian. "A spiritual dynamo," says Dr. John F. Goucher, who worked and walked with him in mission fields close enough to hear the throbbing of his engines. "China's Great Heart," says Paul Hutchinson, speaking for China's missionaries and members. "Mighty man of prayer," says Bishop Thirkield, and that is the one title that will stick. The passion for perpetual prayer is not universal even in the episcopacy. "Brother, how can you stay so long on your knees?" said Bishop Ames to Bishop Janes, watching his private devotions. Treasured in our memory is a prayerful evening alone with Bishop Bashford in his New York hotel room, just before his last return to China. Prayer was his vital breath also. But it is doubtful if there ever was a bishop who outprayed Lewis. He would say to his Lord, "With thee all night I mean to stay and wrestle till the break of day." The trees of Morningside campus saw President Lewis walking and praying the night through. The bare earth on opposite sides of the globe felt the print of his knees. Across seas and continents he prayed his way through problems, obstacles, and tasks. Thus he was wise with the sheer sagacity of utter goodness, most unerring of pathfinders. Whatever spot he was in became a place of prayer. In all things he got ahead on his knees.

He prayed apathetic business men into energetic action, so that they got under heavy loads on their knees and lifted and lugged to a finish. Meeting casually on a steamer a young American prospecting in China for a large firm he got the stranger into a stateroom for prayer. Dying in a hospital he prayed in delirium, entered heaven with prayer.

If any sculptor wants a model for a Statue of Prayer, let him mold this strong man agonizing on his knees with upturned impassioned pleading face appealing to the skies. The statue will need no name. All who ever knew him will recognize this mighty Man of Prayer, Wilson Seeley Lewis.

BISHOP JOHN EDWARD ROBINSON

Bishop J. E. Robinson died at Bangalore, India, on February 16, at the age of seventy-three. He was born in Gort, County Galway, Ireland, in 1849. In 1865 he went to America. After some years in business, in 1870 he was converted, and a little later receiving a call to preach, he entered Drew Theological Seminary, where he was a student for three years.

In the summer of 1874, while at Chautauqua, he heard of Bishop (then Father) Taylor's appeal for self-supporting missionaries in India, and after consultation with the Missionary Secretary offered himself for the work. He was received on trial—by mail—in the Central Illinois Conference, and immediately transferred to India. With several others who had volunteered for self-supporting missionary work he sailed for India, arriving in Bombay in December, 1874.

His first appointment was as a member of the "Bombay and Bengal Mission," which included any place in India where Father Taylor chose to go. He was a charter member of the South India Conference when it was organized in 1876, and later of the Bombay Conference, the Bengal Conference adding fourth to the list of Conferences to which he has belonged in India. He thus knew the work of the Methodist Church in India during the time of its wide extension into all parts of the empire. He was a presiding elder from 1884 to 1904 in four districts of three different Conferences, the Burma District, the Bombay District, the Asansol District, and the Calcutta District.

The Central Conference of India elected Dr. Robinson editor of the "Indian Witness" at the session of 1896. This position he filled until he was elected Missionary Bishop in 1904. At one time or another he has served in almost all possible capacities. He was pastor in Secunderabad, Hyderabad, Bangalore, Rangoon, Simla, Bombay, and Poona. He was for a time in charge of what was then Miss Dawley's "Faith Orphanage," in Poona, of the Taylor High School in Poona, and of the American Methodist Institution in Calcutta. He has held most of the positions that can fall to the lot of a Methodist Missionary—for six years treasurer of the Bengal Conference, for two years treasurer of the Bishop Thoburn Special Fund for India, and secretary of three sessions of the Central Conference. Bishop Robinson was the author of a book entitled "Apostolic Succession Refuted." He also wrote "The Rise and Progress of Methodism," which has been translated into the Kanarese language of India, and in 1915 was published his "Brief History of Methodism." He was delegate to the General Conferences of 1888, 1892, and 1904.

Since his election as Missionary Bishop for Southern Asia, in 1904, he has resided at Bangalore, India.

Bishop Robinson has given his five daughters to foreign missionary service, four of whom are at work under the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church in important centers of the Indian Empire. The fifth daughter is the widow of Rev. William D. Beal, late of Meerut, India. The Bishop's only son, Fletcher Robinson, is a physician located in the city of Lucknow.

One of the most notable examples of missionary loyalty and devotion is found in the family of Bishop John E. Robinson, who for the last ten years has been one of the bishops in charge of our work in India. When Miss Muriel Robinson graduated from Ohio Wesleyan this year, and was accepted by the Cincinnati Branch of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society for the foreign field, four daughters of this worthy leader of our missionary forces had taken upon themselves the vows and obligations of the mission field. Miss Ruth Robinson was the first to be accepted for this work, going out from the Baltimore Branch in 1900, and being stationed at Lucknow, India. She was followed two years later by her sister Helen, who went out from the New York Branch and was placed in Baroda. In 1909 Miss Flora joined her sister Ruth in Lucknow, going out from the Minneapolis Branch. When slighting remarks are made about ministers' children it is well to remember such notable cases as these. Even as of one of old it was written that he "had four daughters, virgins, which did prophesy," so has it been given to this modern apostle of the Christ to give his four daughters, endowed with the gift of prophecy, to the work of the ministry of Christ.

Bishop Robinson was one of the best beloved men in all India.

* Includes Dormitory at San Francisco. † Flats for Anglo-Japanese School. ‡ The net loss on property is $13,400, and is due to writing off the books the Denver property, valued last year at $25,000. This reverted to the Denver Church Extension Society. There is really a gain in property of $11,600, that is, the difference between the Denver valuation and the net loss as above.
